www.goodsearch.com is the website for a search engine service and a fundraising opportunity for you. Please access the website to learn more.

<http://fdncenter.org/grantmaker> is the website for The Foundation Center where you should be able to find out the cost of their catalog entitled, “Grants for International and Foreign Programs”. When I obtained my copy in 1987 it only cost $30. I have heard that it now costs about $125. However, I would check it out to be sure of the cost. If you can afford it this catalog will be very helpful with locating foundations that can assist your work. The Foundation Center also has a short course on grantwriting if you are interested on their website. E-mail: fdonline@fdncenter.org . Mailing address: The Foundation Center; 79 Fifth Av; New York, New York 10003; Tel: 212-620-4230; Fax: 212-691-1828.

There is a different book that has been recommended to me entitled, “Agencies For Development Assistance: Sources of support for community-based socioeconomic and religious projects in developing countries,” by author, Pierre Aubin. The cost is $60. It can be ordered from, Mission Projects Service; 23796 Madison Street; PO Box 100; Chaumont, New York 13622; Tel: 315-649-3716.

The Angel Network at: www.oprah.com/uyl/grants/uyl\_grants\_main.jhtml is a program of the Oprah Winfrey's foundations. The Angel Network has an Africa Grants program to support women, children, and families; relief and recovery; youth and community development. Be sure to send a letter of inquiry following their guidelines and wait to be invited to submit a full proposal. When you are invited to submit a full proposal please follow their grant guidelines. Send a letter of inquiry to: Oprah's Angel Network; Attn: Funding Request; 110 North Carpenter Street; Chicago, Illinois 60607. There is a contact page on the website; however, please refrain from contacting them about a grant's status.

The Loyola Foundation is one of the few foundations that accepts grant proposal for building projects; however, I believe you or your organization must be listed in a directory of recognized Catholic organizations (I am not sure of this requirement, you should find out when you submit your initial inquiry to learn if they are interested in your project).

They are primarily interested in non-recurring requests for capital improvements in the missionary area, which are self-sustaining after completion, special consideration given to requests where there are matching contributions from the missionary area itself. Their area of geographical focus is Latin America. They do have an application form that is required. You can send an initial inquiry letter and ask for their application form and grant guidelines to this address:

The Loyola Foundation, Inc.
308 C St. NE
Washington DC 20002

U S A
Tel: 202-546-9400

www.publicwelfare.org is the website for the Public Welfare Foundation which does not have any geographical limitations on who can receive grant money from them. Their funding priorities are:

Criminal & Juvenile Justice

Health Reform

Workers Rights

Special Opportunities

A letter of inquiry is required first after which you will be invited to submit a full proposal for consideration if they are interested. An outline for the letter of inquiry and a proposal is available on the website. You may also contact them at: Review Committee, Public Welfare Foundation, 1200 U Street, NW, Washington, DC 20009-4443, Tel: 202-965-1800; E-mail: reviewcommittee@publicwelfare.org .

www.rockfound.org is the website for The Rockefeller Foundation which funds grants in the Southeast Asian countries of Thailand, Lao P.D.R., Cambodia, Vietnam, and China's Yunnan province through an office in Bangkok, Thailand. Grants in Africa are funded through offices in either Nairobi, Kenya or Harare, Zimbabwe. Grants in Latin America are funded through an office in Mexico City, Mexico. Their program areas are: Creativity & Culture, inquiries at: creativity@rockfound.org or fax: 212-852-8438; Food Security, inquiries at: food@rockfound.org or fax: 212-852-8442; Health Equity, inquiries at: health@rockfound.org or fax: 212-852-8279, Working Communities, inquiries at: work@rockfound.org or fax: 212-852-8273; Global Inclusion, inquiries at: global@rockfound.org or fax: 212-852-8461; Special Programs/Assets & Capacities - Africa Regional Program, inquiries at: info@rockfound.or.ke or fax: 254-2-218-840 - Communication for Social Change, inquiries at: csc@rockfound.org or fax: 212-852-8441. A letter of inquiry is required first before being invited to submit a proposal. Outlines for the letter of inquiry and proposal are on the website.

www.wkkf.org is the website for the W.K. Kellogg Foundation which funds grants in Latin America and the southern African countries of Botswana, Lesotho, Mozambique, South Africa, Swaziland, and Zimbabwe. In Latin America and the Caribbean the foundation has two major strategies in programming.

The first strategy promotes regional development by supporting comprehensive clusters of projects that demonstrate ways to break the cycle of poverty in selected micro-regions. These micro-regions are southern Mexico and Central America (including parts of the Caribbean), northeast Brazil, and the southern Andean zones of Bolivia, Peru, and Ecuador. The micro-regions promote the development, participation, and leadership of local youth.

The second strategy develops and applies knowledge and best practices through four approaches that foster sustainable systemic change. The approaches are Leadership Development, Citizenship and Social Responsibility, Institution Building and Strategic Alliances, and Information Technology.

This “Foundation” also requires a letter of inquiry before you can send a full proposal. The outlines for both are also on the website.

PROGRAM SUMMARIES

Agriculture and Natural Resources

CARE helps families produce more food and increase their income while managing their natural resources and preserving the environment for future generations. CARE works with farmers to increase their crop and livestock yields through activities such as planting new seed varieties, animal husbandry, home gardening, and irrigation.

Education

CARE is dedicated to promoting basic education for all. Experience shows that educated people are likely to marry later and have healthier families and greater earning potential. Our projects promote and facilitate discussion between parents, teachers, and other members of the community to overcome barriers to education that help keep families mired in poverty CARE also provides economic incentives to help parents cover the cost of keeping their children in school.

Emergency Relief

The fight against poverty is never more difficult than in times of crisis. Our projects directly assist survivors of natural disasters and conflict through immediate relief and longer-term community rehabilitation, including food, temporary shelter, clean water, sanitation services, medical care, family planning and reproductive health services, and seed and tools. CARE also is increasingly focused on post-conflict rehabilitation programming in places such as Angola, Bosnia, and El Salvador. Our special reports give detailed information about CARE's emergency work around the world, including India, Afghanistan, and El Salvador.

Health

A family cannot be economically healthy if it is not physically healthy. CARE's health projects focus on mothers and children, who often are the most vulnerable to disease and malnutrition. We are particularly interested in increasing the capacity of our local partners to deliver quality health services. This includes training local health volunteers as counselors, mentors, and monitors of community health. CARE is focused on interventions ranging from nutrition and education to birth spacing and clinical services. Our reproductive health projects encompass family planning, prenatal care, labor and delivery services, and the prevention, detection and treatment of STDs, including HIV/AIDS.

Nutrition

Proper nutrition is vital to a child's healthy development and an adult's ability to work and care for his or her family. Our projects focus on teaching techniques and practices that help prevent malnutrition. These include demonstrating proper breast feeding; educating families and communities about how to cultivate and prepare nutritious food; providing food as part of emergency relief efforts; and managing food-for-work projects to help communities improve infrastructure.

Small Economic Activity Development

The Small Economic Activity Development (SEAD) Unit assists impoverished families by supporting moneymaking activities, especially those operated by women. Through SEAD, CARE initiates community savings-and-loan programs and provides technical training to help people begin or expand small businesses that will increase family income.

Water, Sanitation, and Environmental Health

CARE helps communities build and maintain clean water systems and latrines. Both directly and through local organizations, CARE provides training and subsidizes construction, but communities make significant contributions in cash and labor, and pay the cost of operation and maintenance. The goal of these projects is to reduce the health risks of water-related diseases and to increase the earning potential of households by saving time otherwise spent gathering water. Projects also include educating people about good hygiene habits to reduce the risk of illnesses.

www.stjude.org is the website for the St. Jude Children's Research Hospital. Mission: Their mission is to find cures for children with catastrophic diseases through research and treatment. Research Focus: Research efforts are directed at understanding the molecular, genetic and chemical bases of catastrophic diseases in children, identifying cures for such diseases and promoting their prevention. Research is focused specifically on cancers, acquired and inherited immunodeficiencies and genetic disorders. Current Research: They are currently conducting research in gene therapy, bone marrow chemotherapy, the biochemistry of normal and cancerous cells, radiation treatment, blood diseases resistant to therapy, viruses, hereditary diseases, influenza, pediatric AIDS and psychological effects of catastrophic illnesses.

St. Jude has an International Outreach Program whose mission is to improve the survival rates of children with catastrophic illnesses worldwide, through the transfer of knowledge, technology, and organizational skills. International Outreach transfers the progress achieved in the treatment of childhood cancer in developed countries to those with limited resources. There now exists a template for existing and future International Outreach partner-sites: (1) Involvement of local leaders, (2) Training of key personnel, (3) Financial support for critical operational needs and, (4) Implementation of standardized therapy.

With an emphasis on using advanced telecommunication technologies for increased education and training and the knowledge that nurse training is the basis for improved patient care, two programs have been implemented:

* Cure4Kids - An Internet-based distance learning initiative at www.cure4kids.org

* International Training Center for Hematology-Oncology Nurses in Central America - to train Latin American nurses in the pediatric sub-specialty of Hematology/Oncology.
